

Retirees Access to World Bank Bulletin Board

Many members have been asking for access to the Bank's Bulletin Board that was previously available but discontinued by the Bank about a year back because of concerns about internet security. After several representations by the 1818 Society, we are pleased to announce that the World Bank has now agreed to make its Bulletin Board accessible to retirees who are either currently drawing a pension or have deferred pension rights (and thus access to the Pension Portal).

The Bulletin Board site is www.worldbank.org/bulletinboard You can access it by using the same User Name and Password that you use to access the pension portal <https://pension.worldbank.org> If you have never accessed the pension portal, you can visit the site and follow instructions on establishing your credentials.

We will soon place a link to the Bulletin Board site on the 1818 Society website. The Pension Administration Office also advises us that they will soon have a link to the Bulletin Board in the Pension Portal itself.

Please note that both the Pension Portal and the Bulletin Board are World Bank's websites. The 1818 Society does not manage these websites and does not have the ability to deal with technical issues you may face in accessing them. You should follow the steps listed on each site for resolving problems.

If you have comments or suggestions on the Bulletin Board, you may send them to: wbbb@worldbank.org

We hope this resolves a longstanding issue for our members.
